Unit 1 Content Overview

UNIT 1 SERVES AS AN INTRODUCTION TO THE FOUNDATIONAL CONCEPTS THAT WILL BE EXPLORED THROUGHOUT THE COURSE. KEY TOPICS COVERED INCLUDE:

- THE SIGNIFICANCE OF PRIMARY VS. SECONDARY SOURCES.
- UNDERSTANDING HISTORIOGRAPHY AND THE EVOLUTION OF HISTORICAL NARRATIVES.
- KEY EVENTS AND FIGURES THAT SHAPED EARLY AMERICAN HISTORY.

Primary and Secondary Sources

An essential component of historical study is the distinction between primary and secondary sources.

- Primary Sources: These are original documents or artifacts created during the time under study. Examples include:
- Letters
- Photographs
- Official documents
- Artifacts
- Secondary Sources: These are interpretations or analyses of primary sources created by scholars or historians. Examples include:
- Textbooks
- Journal articles
- Documentaries

Understanding the difference between these two types of sources is crucial for conducting effective historical research and analysis.

Historiography

Historiography refers to the study of historical writing and the methodologies employed by historians.

- Evolution of Historical Narratives: The way history is written has changed over time, influenced by various factors including:
- Cultural perspectives
- Political agendas
- Technological advancements

Students will explore how different historians approach the same events and how their perspectives can change the interpretation of those events.

Key Events and Figures in Early American History

Unit 1 will also cover pivotal events that laid the groundwork for American society. Notable figures and events include:

- Christopher Columbus: His voyages and their impact on Native populations.
- The American Revolution: Key battles, treaties, and the ideological underpinnings of the revolution.
- Founding Fathers: Figures such as George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and Benjamin Franklin, and their roles in shaping the nation.

Cache-Control header - HTTP | MDN - MDN Web Docs
Jul 4, 2025 · The HTTP Cache-Control header holds directives (instructions) in both requests and responses that control caching in browsers and shared caches (e.g., Proxies, CDNs).

Is there a tag to turn off caching in all browsers?
I found that Chrome responds better to Cache-Control: no-cache (100% conditional requests afterwards). "no-store" sometimes loaded from cache without even attempting a conditional request. Firefox responds better to "no-store" but still sometimes loads from cache if you reload immediately afterwords. What a mess!

What is the difference between no-cache and no-store in Cache …
95 I don't find get the practical difference between Cache-Control:no-store and Cache-Control:no-cache. As far as I know, no-store means that no cache device is allowed to cache that response. In the other hand, no-cache means that no cache device is allowed to serve a cached response without validate it first with the source.

Why both no-cache and no-store should be used in HTTP …
The no-cache directive in a response indicates that the response must not be used to serve a subsequent request i.e. the cache must not display a response that has this directive set in the header but must let the server serve the request.
