Ms. Kline, a kindergarten teacher, begins reading a picture book to a small group of students. She reads the top line of text aloud and keeps her finger on the last word. Ms. Kline then asks students, "Where do I read after this?" The teacher is reinforcing students' understanding of which of the following concepts of print?

- A. One-to-one correspondence
- B. Page sequencing
- C. Book orientation
- D. Return sweep

Option (D) is correct. Concepts of print refers to the ability of a student to know and recognize that print has meaning.

It was very dark in the main hall. A little bit of moonlight came through the windows, and Stanley could just make out the world's most expensive painting on the opposite wall. He felt as though the bearded man with the violin and the lady on the couch and the half-horse person and the winged children were all waiting, as he was, for something to happen.

After reading the excerpt shown from Flat Stanley by Jeff Brown, a second-grade student wrote the following journal response about the passage.

"I don't get who the bearded man with the violin is and all of the other people. I don't remember them from the rest of the story."

Which of the following best describes the student's difficulty in comprehending the passage?

- A. Difficulty recalling the main ideas from the story
- B. Difficulty understanding the meaning of unfamiliar vocabulary
- C. Difficulty making the inference that the characters are subjects in the painting
- D. Difficulty making connections to the characters using background knowledge

Option (C) is correct. The student is unable to infer that the bearded man and the lady appear in the painting and are not main characters in the story.

A second-grade teacher begins a writing lesson by engaging students in a discussion to activate their background knowledge on a topic of interest. The teacher then acts as a scribe and writes on a chart while the students contribute ideas about the topic as the text is composed. Which of the following best describes the instructional practice the teacher is using?
