

Psalm 23 Small Group Discussion Questions

Option 2 -

In Psalm 103:10 we are told that God does not give us what we deserve. On paper or just in your memory, think of some low points in your life where you have rebelled and committed a sin. Don't stay there very long. Next, take that list and read out loud Psalm 103:9-12 and let the word pictures of these verses be done to your mistakes.

Memory Verse:

Psalm 103:2 - Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits.

Next Steps:

- ☐ I will join all creation in declaring the greatness of God.
- ☐ I will seek to imitate the compassion of God as a parent or grandparent (Ps 103:13, 17-18).
- ☐ God gives good things. I will give _____ to God in return.
- ☐ I will bless the Lord for his _____.

Previous message summary:

King David's worship leader, Asaph, wrote Psalm 73 confessing his doubts and struggles. What a difficult position. He was in charge of leading people to worship God whom he was having doubts about. God changed Asaph's perspective and these words come from his heart: "Whom have I in heaven but you? And there is nothing on earth that I desire besides you."

What we learned:

All of us have doubts. Doubts are part of faith. This week the question was posed, "If faith is untested by doubt, is it really faith?" Asaph's big change from doubt to faith took place when he "went into the sanctuary" (73:17). Strength from God comes from worshipping him personally and even corporately. God changes our attitude, outlook, and perspective when we come to worship him admitting that our doubts are getting the best of us.

Introduction

Psalms 102 and 103 are closely related. The theme and tenor of 102 is self-pity that turns into a petition before God for relief. Psalm 103 turns the corner of despair by shedding a new light of praise and hope in God's provision.

Psalms 23 small group discussion questions can serve as a powerful catalyst for deeper understanding and connection among group members. This particular Psalm, often referred to as the "Shepherd Psalm," resonates with many for its themes of guidance, comfort, and divine provision. Exploring this scripture in a small group setting allows participants to share personal insights, theological reflections, and life experiences, fostering a sense of community and spiritual growth. This article will delve into the significance of Psalm 23, offer a structured approach to small group discussions, and provide a variety of thought-provoking questions to facilitate meaningful conversations.

Understanding Psalm 23

Psalm 23 is one of the most well-known passages in the Bible, attributed to King David. Its imagery of God as a shepherd evokes feelings of safety, peace, and assurance. The Psalm captures the essence of God's relationship with His people, emphasizing His guidance and unwavering support.

Thematic Elements

1. Divine Guidance: The metaphor of a shepherd implies active leadership and direction. Group members can discuss how they perceive God's guidance in their lives.
2. Comfort in Adversity: The phrase "Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death" highlights the presence of God during difficult times. Participants might share personal stories of finding comfort in their faith during trials.

3. Abundance and Provision: The imagery of green pastures and still waters reflects God's provision. Discussing this theme can lead to reflections on gratitude and how members perceive God's blessings.

Preparing for the Discussion

Before diving into the questions, it's essential to create an environment conducive to open dialogue. Here are some tips for preparing a small group discussion:

1. Set the Atmosphere: Choose a comfortable location and arrange seating in a circle to promote inclusivity.
2. Establish Ground Rules: Encourage respect for differing opinions and emphasize the importance of confidentiality.
3. Pray for Guidance: Begin with a prayer, asking for insight and wisdom as the group engages with the text.
