Understanding the Song: An Overview

"Rock This Town" is one of the signature songs of the Stray Cats, a band that emerged in the early 1980s, reviving the rockabilly genre that originated in the 1950s. The song features a catchy melody, upbeat rhythm, and a distinctive guitar riff that makes it instantly recognizable.

Historical Context

- Formation of the Stray Cats: Formed in 1980 in Long Island, New York, the band consisted of Brian Setzer (vocals and guitar), Lee Rocker (double bass), and Slim Jim Phantom (drums).
- Revival of Rockabilly: The Stray Cats played a crucial role in bringing rockabilly back into the mainstream music scene, influencing many contemporary artists.
- Chart Success: "Rock This Town" was released in 1981 and became a hit, reaching the top of the charts and solidifying the band's reputation.

Musical Composition

- Key: The song is primarily in the key of A.
- Structure: It follows a classic verse-chorus structure, making it easy to learn.
- Tempo: The upbeat tempo of around 170 BPM gives it a lively feel that is perfect for dancing.

Gear and Setup for Playing "Rock This Town"

To get the right sound for "Rock This Town," you need to consider your gear and setup. Here are some recommendations:

Guitar

- Electric Guitar: A solid-body electric guitar is ideal for this song. A Fender Telecaster or a Gretsch guitar can replicate the rockabilly tone well.
- Pickups: Use single-coil pickups for a brighter sound, which is characteristic of rockabilly music.

Amplifier Settings

- Gain: Keep gain at a moderate level to avoid distortion.
- Bass: Set the bass around 5 to provide warmth.
- Mid: Increase the midrange to around 7 for prominence in the mix.
- Treble: Set treble high for brightness, around 7 or 8.
