Understanding the SAT Writing and Language Section

Before diving into specific grammar rules, it is essential to understand the format of the SAT Writing and Language section. This section consists of 44 multiple-choice questions based on five passages. These passages may include narratives, informative texts, and argumentative essays. The questions assess the following skills:

- Grammar and usage

- Punctuation

- Sentence structure

- Word choice

- Organization and cohesion

Each question is designed to evaluate your understanding of standard written English conventions and your ability to revise and edit texts.

Key SAT Writing Grammar Rules

To excel in the SAT Writing and Language section, it is vital to familiarize yourself with the following grammar rules:

1. Subject-Verb Agreement

Subject-verb agreement is fundamental in constructing clear sentences. The subject and verb must agree in number—singular or plural. Here are some guidelines:

- Singular subjects take singular verbs. Example: "The cat runs quickly."

- Plural subjects take plural verbs. Example: "The cats run quickly."

- When using indefinite pronouns (e.g., anyone, everyone, someone), they are typically treated as singular. Example: "Everyone is invited."

2. Pronoun Agreement

Pronouns must agree in number and gender with the nouns they replace. This includes:

- Singular nouns require singular pronouns. Example: "The teacher lost her book."

- Plural nouns require plural pronouns. Example: "The teachers lost their books."

- Be cautious with collective nouns (e.g., team, committee) as they may be singular or plural. Example: "The team is winning" (singular) vs. "The team are arguing among themselves" (plural).

3. Verb Tenses

Maintaining consistent verb tenses throughout a passage is essential for clarity. Here are some tips:

- Choose a tense and stick with it unless there is a time shift. Example: "She walked to the store and bought groceries."

- Use present tense for general statements. Example: "Water boils at 100 degrees Celsius."

- Use past tense for completed actions. Example: "He finished his homework."

4. Sentence Fragments

A sentence fragment is an incomplete sentence that lacks a subject or a verb. To avoid fragments, ensure that each sentence contains at least one independent clause.

Examples of fragments:
- "Because I was tired." (Fragment)
- "I went to bed early because I was tired." (Complete sentence)

5. Run-on Sentences

Run-on sentences occur when two independent clauses are incorrectly combined without appropriate punctuation. To fix run-ons, consider these options:

- Use a period to separate the clauses. Example: "I love reading. It is my favorite pastime."

- Use a comma and a coordinating conjunction (for, and, nor, but, or, yet, so). Example: "I love reading, and it is my favorite pastime."

- Use a semicolon to connect related clauses. Example: "I love reading; it is my favorite pastime."

6. Misplaced and Dangling Modifiers

Modifiers should be placed next to the word they describe to avoid confusion.

Examples of misplaced modifiers:
- "I saw the dog running down the street with a broken leg." (Unclear if the dog or the leg is broken)
- "I saw the dog with a broken leg running down the street." (Clarifies that the dog has the broken leg)

A dangling modifier occurs when the word being modified is not explicitly stated in the sentence. Example: "After reading the book, the movie was disappointing." (It should be "After reading the book, I found the movie disappointing.")

7. Punctuation Rules

Correct punctuation is essential for clear writing. Here are some common rules:

- Use commas to separate items in a list. Example: "I bought apples, oranges, and bananas."

- Use commas before conjunctions in compound sentences. Example: "I wanted to go for a walk, but it started raining."

- Use semicolons to link closely related independent clauses. Example: "I have a big test tomorrow; I can't go out tonight."

- Use apostrophes to indicate possession. Example: "The dog's leash is broken."
