

Short Answer Study Guide Black Boy

SHORT ANSWER: Write the word or phrase that best completes each statement or answers the question.

100. How does the author define the project network? How are WBS and project network related?

The network is developed from the information collected from the WBS and is a graphic flow chart of the project job plan. Network provides the project schedule by identifying dependencies, sequencing, and timing of activities. The WBS is not designed to do this.

101. How does the timing and critical path network compare why they are not identical in describing project activities?

Timing is the attempt by the network designer to assign to an activity activity. If timing were allowed paths would not necessarily be determined. Conditional statements are "if/then" statements. If conditional statements were allowed, the network would make better use and would not be able to accomplish many of its objectives.

102. When completing the network plan, the project manager determines if project duration is always based on the end of the project and is usually completed at the end of the project.

The project duration gives you an estimated number of working days necessary to complete the project. It doesn't consider weekends, holidays, vacations, etc.

103. Why network comparison gives us a better understanding of what things are in a network?

Working with the time activity, network is viewed forward through the network, adding times until the end of the project. This determines (1) how much activity can take, (2) how many activities can finish, and (3) how much the project can be completed.
