

The Medicine Bag Commonlit Answer Key

The Medicine Bag – Build Insight 1-7

1. I do feel that Martin's relationship with his grandpa reflect real life because some people don't want to share their family for who they really are. "Not that we were ashamed of him but because we knew that the glamorous tales we told didn't go with the real thing."
2. Grandpa arrived in Martin's town tired and stiff. From there he was going to walk. "When he arrived in the city, tired and stiff from sitting for so long, he set out walking to find us."
- 2b. Grandpa wants Martin to have the medicine bag because it is part of his family tradition, and his grandpa thinks he might die. "Grandpa thought he was going to die, and he had to follow the tradition of his family to pass the medicine bag, along with its history, to the oldest male child."
- 2c. At the end of the story Martin added a scared sage to the medicine bag. "Two weeks later I stood alone on the lonely prairie of the reservation and put the sacred sage in my medicine bag."
3. I can relate this to society but not everyone can to as I read the story. "He carefully prepared for his quest with a purifying sweat bath, and then he went alone to a high butte top too fast and pray"
- 3b. I would recommend this strategy to others because you are able to remember things that go hand and hand with what happens in society.
4. The Grandpas father had a dream and returned to his village to tell his people. They gave him a name Iron Shell. His father hated school but one day gave in and worked in the blacksmith shop and when he walked in, he knew that the medicine bag was the reason he went there. I became a family tradition, and it was treasured by his father his whole life.
- 4b. I think Grandpa tells Martin this story all the time is because he wants Martin to know that there is always something behind the little things you might not notice.
5. Grandpa ends up going to the hospital and Martin two week later puts the scared sage in the medicine bag. "That night Mom and Dad took Grandpa to the hospital. Two weeks later I stood alone on the lonely prairie of the reservation and put the sacred sage in my medicine bag."
6. The ending reveals that Martin believed in his grandfather and went through everything he said. "Two weeks later I stood alone on the lonely prairie of the reservation and put the sacred sage in my medicine bag."
