Game Phases

1. Strategy Phase

During this phase, players choose strategy cards that will dictate their actions for the round. Each strategy card has unique abilities and provides players with advantages, such as additional actions or resources. Players will take turns selecting strategy cards in the established turn order.

2. Action Phase

The action phase is where players take their turns performing various actions, including:

- Moving Ships: Players can move their ships to adjacent systems.
- Invading Planets: If a player has ships in a system with an opponent's planet, they can initiate an invasion.
- Exploring Systems: Players can explore new and unoccupied systems.

Players can take turns performing actions until all players have passed. It's important to note that players must strategize carefully, as their choices during this phase can significantly impact the game's outcome.

3. Status Phase

- Scoring Objectives: Players check their objective cards to see if they have met the requirements to earn victory points.
- Refreshing Units: Players refresh their ships and tokens, bringing them back to full capacity.
- Drawing New Objective Cards: Players may draw new objectives to pursue in the upcoming rounds.

This phase is crucial for tracking progress towards victory and planning for future turns.

Combat and Conflict

Combat is a central aspect of Twilight Imperium 3rd Edition, often determining the fate of systems and planets. The rules for combat are as follows:

Initiating Combat

Combat occurs when a player moves ships into a system occupied by an opponent's forces. The attacking player declares an attack and both players prepare for combat.

Resolving Combat

1. Determine Combatants: Both players identify their ships and ground forces involved in the combat.
2. Roll Dice: Each player rolls a number of dice based on the ships involved in the combat. The results determine hits:

- Different ships may have varying hit values (e.g., a Cruiser may hit on a roll of 6, while a Fighter may hit on a 5 or 6).
3. Apply Damage: Players compare the number of hits rolled and apply damage to the opposing forces. Damage is resolved by removing ships from the board.

Retreating from Combat

Players have the option to retreat their forces instead of engaging in combat. This decision can save valuable units but may also lead to lost opportunities to secure objectives.

Victory Conditions

Winning in Twilight Imperium 3rd Edition requires strategic planning and execution. Players accumulate victory points through various means, including:

- Scoring Objectives: Players earn points by meeting the criteria on objective cards.
- Controlling Key Systems: Holding certain planets or systems can yield additional points.
- Political Maneuvering: Engaging in diplomacy and forming alliances can lead to shared victories.

The game ends when a player reaches a predetermined number of victory points, usually ten, or when all objectives have been scored.
